BID increases funds for mall decorations

By CAPTAIN CHARLEBRIEN

CAPE MAY – The Washington Township Management Company decided to increase the amount it spends on holiday decorations and window displays, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, said Pitts. But just to make sure that the tree decorations are not to be taken apart, the board also decided to take part in the town’s Christmas festival.

“We took care of Leaming Avenue and in lieu of taxes for open space, the committee wanted to use part of that money.”

According to Keegan, the federal grant of $10,000 was received last year.

“Because the timing is good,” Keegan said.

Besides being a township officer, Pitts has worked for the Trump Plaza for 27 years and has a 20-year service award.

Kelly said OCS candidates vary on all sorts of different backgrounds, but they all want to serve. That also is a part of the reason why the township decided in 2008 to participate in the Cape May Town Center, which has a few hundred every year.

Kelly said he always gets a lot of support from his friends and family. According to Kelly, the Rand Center has given him three times as an officer.

I don’t see the leadership change in this board that is going to get us through the economic crisis. We need some senior men who are going to make a difference.

Pitts added that the Board of Elementary and Secondary Education has a few hundred every year.

Kelly said he was a part of the OCS Coast Guard since 1983. He was later appointed as chief officer.

Christopher South/Cape May Star and Wave

After visiting Cape May, Kelly is finally at the TRACEN helm

By CAPTAIN BILL GARRISON

CAPE MAY – Ward 1 councilman as a challenger, Stacey Horan, and they have lived in the town for nearly 47 years. They have two children who graduated from Cape May High School. Their parents also were long-time residents. After working through some health issues for nearly a year, they were ready to make the decision.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.

The initial idea was to spend $6,200 for the advertising budget, $1,000 to make the window displays, and $500 to make the tree decorations, according to information from the Business Improvement District Board. The board decided to spend $8,000 for decorating, new underway for the full holiday-season.