

Bashaw wins nomination

Press and New York Times had declared Bashaw the winner of the primary. State Sen. Mike Testa, who served as statewide chairman of Bashaw's campaign, told the crowd to wait a little longer for vote tabulations from Morris and Bergen counties. He said the "numbers looked even better than expected."

Cape May County GOP Chairman Michael Donohue said Bashaw did the impossible by winning a statewide primary from Cape May County. The momentum in the campaign started with a convention win from the Atlantic County Republican Organization, Donohue said.

"We rolled with an alliance of counties that came together with Ocean County and Cumberland County and all of these counties throughout the state, 14 of the 21 counties went with this guy from Cape May County," he said.

In his victory speech, Bashaw said instead of tearing people down, he was building a bigger, better Republican Party, a party of people who "believe in freedom and more opportunities."

"We're going to bring people together to get things done for all of New Jersey," he said.

Bashaw said when he set out to restore Congress Hall, he was told it was too old and falling apart and it would be wiser to build a new hotel.

"I knew what Congress Hall had been in its glory and I believed what it could be again, and that vision kept me going and I fought for it and it worked, becoming an engine for the revival of our Cape May economy, and I believe in building vibrant communities and creating jobs," he said.

"We can't keep sending the same old politicians to Washington and expect a better result, and New Jersey families deserve better than this one-party Democratic monopoly that has represented them for far too long in Washington," Bashaw continued. "Tonight is the start of a real change because our state is at a crossroads."

He said he was running against two entrenched Democratic candidates. Bashaw said some say it's impossible for a Republican to win in a blue state. Quoting Mohammed Ali, he said "impossible" is just a big word thrown around by small people who find it easier to live in the world they've been given than to explore the power they have to change it.

"Impossible is not a fact, it's an opinion," Bashaw said. "Impossible is not a declaration, it's a dare. Let's take that challenge on."

He referred to Kim as a far left, Washington insider who does not represent the values of New Jersey voters.

"He doesn't deserve a promotion to the United States Senate," Bashaw said.
